KRDO News 13 Clarification

In response to the story that aired this evening on Colorado Springs ABC affiliate KRDO, PorchLight Communications CEO, Robert Athey, released this statement:

"In light of the story that aired tonight, I find I must clarify PorchLight's current service offerings. We are not currently broadcasting any television programming to any of our communities. Any television programming in our existing communities is provided by DirecTV and is not a product of or branded by PorchLight Communications. PorchLight is optimistically looking forward to providing the best quality Television, Internet, Telephone, and Home Security services, pending approval of the voters in the April 3 election."
